

Dear Colleagues,

In this issue, 5 articles by 14 authors from 5 different countries have been published. These published articles are from Canada, Ghana, Spain, Turkey and Zimbabwe.

Although the EJPCE is a young journal, published since 2009, it has received attention from many subject area specialists who are well known in physics and chemistry education throughout the world. The number of articles sent to the EJPCE is significantly increasing. It is our pleasure to receive articles from many subject area specialists in North America, Europe, the Middle East, and Africa and to get the attention of many researchers. Hence, the EJPCE is indexed and/or abstracted in many well-known databases. We hope that interest in the EJPCE will continue to increase and the EJPCE journal will play a major role in the field of physics and chemistry education in the near future. We sincerely thank all of our contributors, reviewers and editorial board members for their valuable contributions.

Hope to stay in touch and meet in our next Issue, due to be out on 1st of October 2012.

Dr. Orhan KARAMUSTAFAOĞLU
